

There once was a promise of bread

To keep every tummy warm

and fed

By the strength of their arms,

Keeping quiet all alarms

Till all anyone saw was

RED

red.

